

RQ1. Where did WSU students learn about the events posted by the international center?

WSU email account.

RQ2. Are WSU students allowed to organize festival events by themselves?

Yes, festival events are generally organized by students.

RQ3. Have you participated in any activities in IP-international Center at WSU? If yes, please briefly describe your experience.

No, I am not interested in these social activities.

RQ4. Based on all existing IP-international Center activities, do you think they meet the need of all WSU students who are interested in culture exchange? Why? What kind of events do you expect to happen in IP-international Center?

Never joined an IP-international Center activity. No idea.

RQ5. When there is an event in WSU, can the students know how popular it is, and how many people want to join it?

I do not think so. Because it doesn't make sense, people will take the initiative to participate if they like this event, and if they don't like it, they won't participate because it's so hot.

RQ6. Can the students communicate with others who are interested in a same event?

Yes, they may find each other on Facebook.

RQ7. Have you ever wanted to learn about the culture of other countries? If you have, how do you currently understand the culture of other countries?

Yes, I am curious of Japan culture, and have been reading literatures, publications, media about it.

RQ8. How do you make foreign friends now? Do you want a platform that can help you meet foreign friends in the school?

Through common courses and research collaboration. No, Facebook is far more than enough. We need an App which ensures privacy and security for students. Facebook has a disappointing drawback that people are not required a real identity verification, thus many frauds exist.
